WHO WE ARE

Graham Projects is a Baltimore-based design-build firm making cities more inclusive and livable through public art, placemaking, and civic engagement. We specialize in taking projects from public engagement to final installation, working closely with local stakeholders to bring community-driven visions to life. At the core of our work are creative, interactive community engagement strategies that maximize outreach in-person and online. Our team has extensive experience developing public art and placemaking projects and plans with diverse stakeholders, securing municipal permits, coordinating with neighborhood partners, and supporting transportation, parks, and planning agencies. Graham Projects can serve as a design or planning consultant, construction subcontractor, or lead a project from concept to completion.
